CLAIMS

1. A method of decoding MPEG data comprising a plurality of macroblocks, each macroblock comprising a header and block layer data, said method comprising:

5 decoding the header of at least one macroblock using a first processing element; and decoding the block layer data of said at least one macroblock using a second processing element.